UPCOMING CONFERENCES IMCAS PARIS

At the end of this month, I look forward to attending the IMCAS World Congress in Paris, an internationally renowned event bringing together leaders in dermatology, plastic surgery, and aesthetic medicine. I am excited to deliver talks on cutting-edge advancements in our field and engage in meaningful discussions with global experts!

During the congress, I will be presenting on several exciting topics including how AI is transforming regulatory landscapes in dermatology and the realities of complications with exosome therapies. I'm also honored to chair sessions on bioregeneration and masterclass discussions about skincare and digital advancements.
